

Gazette Photos/Abbey Keifman

Jamie Clark, of Fort Smith, Arkansas, left, took the opportunity Wednesday afternoon to buy some homemade apple butter from Rhonda Sparks at the Downtown Bedford Farmers Market.

Jeremy Weber, Lindsay Buchanan and little Rachel Weber try to decide which sweets to take home from the Downtown Bedford Farmers Market.

Variety at market

By Abbey Keifman
Gazette Staff Writer

It may be only one day a week this year, but vendors at the Downtown Bedford Farmers Market are providing an array of goods that change with the growing season.

Sue Leonard said that every year since the farmers' market began has been different. "You've got one thing that sells each year," she said. "The next year it's something else."

Leonard's Orchard was represented
— Continued on Page 3